U.S. Tax Octopus Reaches for Local Exempt Bonds

In its roundup of pending federal tax changes the Wall Street Journal sounded this ominous note June 29: "Administration leans toward voiding tax-exemptions of industrial development bonds." To the unthinking man in the street the idea of knocking out county and city bonds on which buyers collect tax-exempt interest might seem to be strictly O.K.

But not when I spell it out for you. Their tax-exempt status permits local communities to issue and sell bonds bearing a low interest rate because the smaller interest income is offset by the absence of federal tax. Basically it was an equitable "deal" or the federal government wouldn't have countenanced it from the beginning.

But now the prodigal and tax-hungry central power has awakened to the fact that a billion dollars of such tax-exempt local securities were outstanding at the end of 1965 and an additional 300 millions' worth have been issued since the first of the year. The question today, however, is this: Which is more important — satisfying the insatiable appetite of Washington's tax-eaters, or dealing fairly between the local governments which have already issued tax-exempt bonds and gotten new industries, and those communities which expect to do so in the future but now are threatened with the federal axe?

Let me spell this out in the local language that all south-west Arkansas will understand. Little River county floated more than 50 million dollars in tax-exempt bonds and got a new paper mill for Ashdown.

Hempstead county has a site on this side of Little River for which surveys are now being conducted in behalf of a major paper manufacturer, the Champion company. But if Hempstead county isn't going to be permitted to issue tax-exempt bonds just as Little River County did then the net result will be that Ashdown has a paper mill and Hempstead will be left with nothing but a bagful of statistics compiled by tax-hungry Washington bureaucrats.

This disaster hasn't occurred as yet. Nor do I expect that it will. Because if it should come to pass I think it is obvious that an angry people would wipe out the entire Arkansas congressional delegation as fast as they came up for re-election. And the anger would be nation-wide — for there are more industrial bond plans in the planning stage than those actually issued.

But I owe you this piece as a warning. And in fairness to the reading public I should also state that this writer personally owns tax-exempt bonds of the City of Crossett and the City of North Little Rock; however, their value is small in comparison with the taxable investment I have built up in Hope over 37 years. And a similar picture exists for dozens of local businessmen.

The tax-exemption of certain bonds is not particularly important to me or the others. We can buy bonds that do pay taxes but also pay a higher interest rate, and come out almost as well.

All this, however, is picaresque. The real disaster would lie out at the confluence of Little and Red Rivers — with a paper mill on the Texarkana side and an abandoned venture on the Hope side.

If I'm not about it I trust this piece has raised your temperature too — and that you will let the Washingtonians know.

Red Official Attacks U.S.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
OTTAWA (AP) — Soviet Deputy Premier Dmitri Polyansky attacked U.S. actions in Viet Nam at an official Canadian dinner Tuesday night and drew a sharp rebuff from his host, Foreign Minister Paul Martin.

Polyansky, head of a Soviet delegation touring Canada, stunned the gathering of Canadian Cabinet ministers, legislators and diplomats. He said the United States is destroying the Vietnamese people their cities and roads while not one Vietnamese bomb has been dropped on the United States.

GOPs Charge Local Major Takes Training McMillan Asked Money

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Saying they felt a moral responsibility to the Republican Party and to Arkansas the GOP officials charged Wednesday that Gus McMillan had offered to pull out of the governor's race for $82,000.

"This is not true," McMillan said from his hometown of Sheridan.

McMillan's late entry into the governor's race forced the GOP to set up machinery for a statewide GOP primary.

McMillan called the action a "dirty tactic, just as rotten as it can be from start to finish."

He said it was "an attempt to intimidate me and force me to give up my race for governor. They told me this morning they would do it."

The Republicans made the charge at a news conference.

The GOP presented a tape recording which Odell Pollard of Searcy, the GOP's general counsel, said carried a conversation between McMillan and Truman Altenbaumer, the party's executive director.

Defense Dept. Would Induct Youngest

By BOB HORTON
WASHINGTON (AP) — A long-awaited Defense Department study concluded today that the draft should be redesigned to induct the youngest eligible men first and not men nearest 26 — "those who are the most settled in their careers."

The change would shift the emphasis to the 19-20 age bracket.

"Combat commanders prefer the younger age group," the study said, "and about eight of 10 volunteers are in the age group under 20."

The study, presented to the House Armed Services Committee by Asst. Secretary of Defense Thomas D. Morris, made these other principal points:

—The United States can not look forward to discontinuing the draft in the next decade unless changing world conditions reduce needs substantially below the force levels required since Korea.

—An all-volunteer force cannot be justified because it would cost anywhere between $4 billion and $17 billion to increase military pay enough to attract the volunteers needed even for a pre-Viet Nam force of 2.7 million. More than 3 million are in service now.

—The present deferment system is "basically sound."

Morris, in charge of manpower for the Defense Department, testified as the committee wound up its hearings into the operations of the Selective Service System.

Section Seeks Improvements

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Over 100 central Arkansas business leaders met in Little Rock Tuesday to discuss how that section of the state could move forward by working as a unit.

The meeting, sponsored by the Little Rock Chamber of Commerce, drew 24 representatives from state agencies, industries and educational facilities.

The group voted to form a committee composed of one representative from each county to follow through on ideas expressed at the meeting.

Charged With Slaying Jews

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Wilhelm Harster, 61, chief of the Nazi security police in Nazi-occupied Holland, and two of his aides were charged today with aiding and abetting the murder of thousands of Dutch Jews.

Harster was accused of the murder of 82,856 Jews. Wilhelm Zoepf, 58, was charged in 55,382 cases and Gertrud Slotke, 63, was charged in 54,982 murders. All three were arrested Jan. 12. No trial date has been set.

George W. Orton

NORFOLK, Va. (AHTNC) — Army Maj. George W. Orton of 1120 E. Third St., Hope, Ark., was graduated from the Armed Forces Staff College in Norfolk, Va., June 24.

Operating under supervision of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, the college prepares U.S. and allied officers from all services for future assignment with staffs of commands in which joint forces or forces of more than one nation are involved.

Included in the five month program is instruction in the foreign policy roles of the U.S. State Department, the Central Intelligence Agency and the U. S. Information Service.

Major Orton was graduated from the U. S. Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., in 1951.

Shover Street from Yerger School east, a distance of 1,000 feet, will be closed to through traffic Friday July 1, Saturday July 2, Tuesday July 5 and Wednesday July 6, during the night hours.

This is being done so that base construction and double sealing of the street can proceed as quickly as possible, says City Engineer Dave Peters.

Barricades at East Shover Road and Highway 4 and Yerger School will be erected.

The Hope Street Department asks co-operation of the public so these improvements may proceed quickly.

Again Race Trouble Hits Georgia Town

By JOE ZELLNER

CORDELE, Ga. (AP) — For the second time this year racial troubles have beset the citizens of this South Georgia town. Almost every citizen was affected by the strict curfew the city commission clamped on this town of about 1,500 following violent clashes between Negroes and whites.

The curfew, from 8:30 p.m. to 6 a.m., was ordered after a pitched gun battle between whites and Negroes Tuesday night.

Earlier this year, many citizens became enraged when, during a civil rights rally at the courthouse, demonstrators pulled the U. S. and Georgia flags from the flagstaff. The U. S. flag was ripped in the incident.

Officials say they are puzzled at the turn of events.

"I just don't understand it," Police Chief T. J. McMurray said.

McMurray and other city officials said movies, restaurants and other public accommodations were desegregated without incident some time ago.

"Two years ago, we hired three Negro policemen," McMurray said. "They worked out fine. We also have three Negro women on the force, working at school crosswalks." He said he has 15 policemen in all.

Richard Folger, assistant city manager, estimated that 70 per cent of those employed by the city are Negro.

J. L. Hughes

CAMP PENEDILETON, Calif. (AHTNC) May 24 — Marine Private First Class James L. Hughes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louie Hughes of Saratoga, Ark. has completed individual combat training here.

The four-week course included over 200 hours of instruction under simulated combat conditions, covering squad tactics, guerrilla warfare, day and night combat, patrolling, and the use of infantry weapons.

His next stop is four weeks of basic specialist training in his military occupational field.

Visit Abroad Profitable

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — One of three manufacturers from Arkansas who went on a trade mission to Europe recently said Tuesday that he and the others expected to reap $750,000 a year for the next three years from the prospects they met on the trip.

Don Flanders, president of the Flanders Manufacturing Co. of Fort Smith, said the immediate sales amounted only to $25,000, however.

The other manufacturers on the trip sponsored by the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission were Jack Cline, president of the Clarksville Machine Works and Norman Byrd of West Memphis, president of York Manufacturing Co.

Flanders said the three manufacturers could expect annual sales of $1 million after three years.

Annex Plan Is Defeated

BOONEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — A City Council proposal to annex about eight square miles to the present boundaries of Booneville was defeated Tuesday 342-266.

The annexation would have included the city water supply on the north edge of the city, 40 acres along both sides of Arkansas 23 on the south, and lesser extensions on the east, west and southwest.

Fuel Depots at Hanoi Again Blasted

By EDWIN G. WHITE
SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — American bombers attacked Communist fuel depots in the vicinity of Hanoi for the second straight day today, the U. S. command announced.

Both Navy and Air Force planes participated in the raids, which hit fuel dumps around the capital of Communist North Viet Nam.

The closest raid today to Hanoi was seven and a half miles from the capital, a U. S. spokesman said. Wednesday, in their closest penetration to Hanoi, Air Force bombers smashed a big fuel depot only three miles from the heart of the city.

There was no immediate estimate of the damage done by the raiders.

An Air Force spokesman said no Communist MIG jets were sighted and no surface-to-air missiles were fired before the American planes roared away.

The raids continued the American strategy designed to deprive the North Vietnamese army of its vital fuel supplies and thus hamper its movement of men and supplies to the Viet Cong in South Viet Nam.

Day on the fuel depots at Hanoi and Haiphong a spectacular success, and an Air Force general termed them the "most significant, most important strike of the war."

Reaction at First Is Critical

WASHINGTON (AP) — An uproar over the American bombing of oil supply depots on the outskirts of Hanoi and Haiphong echoed today from Capitol Hill to the capitals of Europe.

At home, Johnson administration spokesmen emphasized that the United States was "not attempting to escalate the war" with Wednesday's air strikes.

Abroad, the first reaction was mostly critical to the bombings which Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said inflicted heavy damage on the facilities which represented over 60 per cent of North Viet Nam's remaining oil storage capacity. He said one American plane was downed.

McNamara told a news conference that every effort was made to prevent harm to civilians and to avoid destruction of nonmilitary facilities.

But a North Vietnamese army communiqué charged the U. S. planes "indiscriminately bombed and strafed residential and economic areas, causing human and material losses to our people." It made no mention of damage to the vital oil storage complexes.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey countered this claim with a declaration that "no civilian casualties resulted." He told a news conference in Detroit "the bombings were conducted under very careful control and amazing precision."

He said he doubted the bombings would escalate the war and said the decision was to "bomb military targets for military reasons and with military efficiency."

He said American allies, including Britain, were told of the decision in advance of the air strikes.

The vice president said the reaction of British Prime Minister Harold Wilson was not unexpected. Wilson had expressed regret over the bombings and said Britain was unable to support the action.

Wilson's statement drew a sharp retort Wednesday night from Duncan Sandys, a Conservative legislator.

Bombing Signals Intensification of Viet Nam War

Fullbright Calls for Explanation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The worldwide dispute over U. S. bombing of oil installations on the outskirts of Hanoi and Haiphong flashed anew on Capitol Hill today with a call from Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., for an explanation why the United States "drastically escalated" the Viet Nam war.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and a persistent critic of administration policy in the Orient, addressed his demand to Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, a witness before the committee in what was scheduled as an inquiry into problems of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Ball defended President Johnson's decision on the air strikes as prudent and necessary, and drew backing from Sen. Frank J. Lausche, D-Ohio.

New voices joined in the Communist chorus of denunciation of the bombing which echoed around the world.

The Vatican joined those who have expressed "regret" and "worries" over the development.

Lausche, who has often defended administration actions in Viet Nam, demanded that Fulbright say what his alternative would be — "What do you propose to do?"

Fulbright said he was only proposing that the undersecretary discuss "the consequences" of the U. S. actions.

"I respectfully say to you that you are proposing nothing," Lausche retorted.

Fulbright explained his introduction of the issue by arguing that the war in Southeast Asia has such a worldwide impact it would be "futile" to discuss NATO without considering Viet Nam.

In Japan, Foreign Minister Etsusaburo Shinnu termed the action "an inevitable step" but student protest marchers planned demonstrations.

$1.4 Million

RUSSELLVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Manhattan Construction Co. of Fort Smith submitted an apparent low bid of $1,472,321 Tuesday for construction of two dormitories at Arkansas Tech.

Many Feel Price of War Has Gone Up

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent

When 46 U. S. warplanes struck North Vietnamese oil complexes close to Hanoi and Haiphong, the war in Viet Nam reached a new stage of intensification that has been building for a period of five years.

"The price of the war has just gone up," a Pentagon officer in Washington commented Wednesday. "I don't know what you call this besides an escalation."

It was a far cry from five years back. Then, Americans scarcely noticed when President John F. Kennedy sent 100 jungle fighters to serve as advisers to a South Vietnamese army fighting a Red insurgency. Since then, a remote jungle conflict in a land little known to Americans has become probably the most controversial foreign war in U. S. history.

Those who noted the slight "escalation" — the word was not current then — in President Kennedy's step probably were reassured when Lyndon B. Johnson, then vice president, commented during a visit to Viet Nam that "if we furnish the support, they will furnish the manpower."

Even three years ago, in May 1963, when Buddhist troubles were about to ignite a political explosion in Saigon, little public attention was paid to the situation there.

But as early as 1962, Washington had admitted to having 685 military "advisers" in Viet Nam, while reports circulated that the total was closer to 4,000. American pilots flew combat missions with Vietnamese airmen, ostensibly to train them.

In January 1963, Americans learned from Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, Army chief of staff, that there were 12,000 U. S. military personnel in South Viet Nam, and within six months the number reached 14,000.

As the Buddhist crisis grew, threatening to benefit the Viet Cong Communists, so did U. S. concern. President Kennedy likened Viet Nam to the first in a line of dominoes. If Viet Nam fell, so would other Asian nations.

Despite this concern, Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, after a visit to Viet Nam in October 1963, told President Kennedy it was "their judgment that the major part of the U. S. military task can be completed by the end of 1965."

The Diem regime fell but this was overshadowed by the assassination of President Kennedy.

Can't Justify Insurance Hikes-Faubus

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Orval Faubus said Wednesday he doubted that insurance companies would be able to make a case for a large increase in rates if they file a new application later this year.

His comments came several hours after Insurance Commissioner Harvey Combs put a quick end to a public hearing by suspending a 21.22 per cent increase in automobile liability insurance rates.

Combs ended the hearing without taking testimony on whether the hearing was justified.

Faubus said later that neither he nor his attorneys knew the hearing would end quickly. He said his attorneys had collected a mountain of evidence about rates.

"We might not have won, but the insurance industry would have looked bad when we got through," Faubus said.

He still plans to make recommendations for a reorganization of the state Insurance Department to the next legislature, he said.

Should the insurance companies ask for a rate increase before the legislature can reorganize the Insurance Department, he will provide money from his emergency fund for employment of the "best rate analyst we can find," the governor said.

Faubus said at the hearing and in previous statements that the department was understaffed.

Air Department Wants Plane

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — One thing the young Arkansas Department of Aeronautics sure could use, its director says, is an airplane.

James W. Woodard said Tuesday he needs a plane to license and check the state's airports, to investigate civil air mishaps, to mark cities for identification from the air and to attend civic meetings.

He recommended in the department's first annual report a $10,000 legislative appropriation for a twin-engine craft.

Hope Federal Promotions Announced

J. P. Duffie

Fred Ellis

A series of promotions was announced today by Hope Federal Savings and Loan Association in which Fred O. Ellis became president of the firm.

J. P. Duffie, former president and one of the original organizers, was elevated to chairman of the board, a newly-created post within the organization.

Albert Graves, director and attorney, was elected to the office of vice-president. Mr. Graves was also one of the original organizers and has served continuously as attorney and director.

Mr. Ellis, the new president, joined the organization in 1953 as director and secretary, succeeding the late Ched Hall. He moved up to executive vice-president two years ago.

Other officers and directors are Leonard F. Ellis, secretary and director; Miss Marcine Abbott, assistant secretary, and Frank J. Hill, director.

Hope Federal Savings and Loan Association was formed in April 1934, at a public meeting held in Hope City Hall in which the late Paul E. Briant was named president, and the late E. S. Greening as secretary.

Mr. Duffie, now chairman of the board, was named the first vice-president; and Attorney Albert Graves was elected as a director and named the Association's attorney.

Early minutes show the very first loan was made to W. H. Etter of Washington who had applied for $600 — but the board cut the sum to $450.

The Association started with a capital of $100,000. Present assets exceed the three-million mark.

Regard War Made by Americans

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — A limited survey of popular attitudes in government-controlled areas of South Viet Nam indicates people there tend to regard the war as an American war, officials report.

U.S. experts who conducted the survey say there also is a tendency to rely chiefly on the Americans to bring back peace and find answers to South Viet Nam's economic and other problems.

There seems to be a downswing in popular confidence in the ability of the Saigon government to handle effectively the various problems facing South Viet Nam, the survey indicated.

The sampling of Vietnamese views was understood to have been small and was taken in connection with a study of trends in the morale of the Communist Viet Cong.

After interrogating some 200 people, mostly Viet Cong defectors and prisoners, U.S. analysts said they detected what seemed to be a growing feeling of hopelessness among some elements of the Viet Cong.

The analysts reported evidence that Viet Cong morale has become fragile. They said there were signs that the combat effectiveness of some Communist units had declined.

In other weekend developments related to Viet Nam: —Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield expressed hope in an interview that U.N. Secretary-General U Thant may be able to interest Soviet leaders in Viet Nam peace talks during his planned trip to Moscow. Mansfield also said French President Charles de Gaulle's current visit to the Soviet Union might result in a move toward neutralization of Southeast Asia — a move he said the United States should welcome.

—Undersecretary of State George W. Ball, appearing on the NBC television-radio program "Meet the Press," denied that the United States has decided to bomb oil storage depots near the North Vietnamese cities of Hanoi and Haiphong. But he refused to shut the door on this possibility in the future.

John A. Gronouski, U.S. ambassador to Poland, in a copy-right interview in U.S. News & World Report, said his discussions with representatives of Red China have not produced great progress toward reducing tensions between the two countries.

May Be Smartest Man in the World

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Pound for pound and inch for inch, Michael Dunn may well be the smartest man in the world.

But undoubtedly he is the most successful dwarf in show business since the late Tom Thumb.

Michael is 31, weighs 78, stands 3 feet and 10 inches in his stockings, and has an intelligence quotient of 178.

"Theoretically, I'm a genius," said Michael, peering owlishly through thick-lensed glasses over a plate of parsley at his favorite Broadway saloon.

"Being a so-called genius doesn't mean you can do anything. But it is of some help to anyone. It makes your mind more fun."

For his role as the philosophic traveler in "Ship of Fools," Dunn became the first fellow his size ever to be nominated for an Academy Award. He recently completed work on a second film, and has two more lined up.

Also in the works are a Broadway play and a television series of his own in which he plays a detective who is "more cerebral than muscular."

"I'm not a professional midget. I'm an actor," carefully pointed out Michael, whose theater pals call him "Gremlin" and "The Purple Avenger."

"There's a difference. A midget gets carried onstage in a basket, pops out, says a funny line and runs off. I don't think that takes much talent."

"My lack of height is incidental. It would be foolish to say that people don't notice it, but I transcend it."

"Most stage parts for midgets or dwarfs are crutches. But now they are writing me real roles."

Michael suffers from achondroplasia, a congenital but not hereditary disease also known as fetal rickets, in which cartilage fails to develop properly.

"I knew by the time I was 3 or 4 that I would always be small," he said matter of factly. "But my mind gave me a good edge."

"I never got hung up emotionally because my parents wisely let me do what I wanted to as a

Research Team Is Discussed

NEW YORK (AP) — King Faisal of Saudi Arabia and President Nathan M. Pusey of Harvard University have discussed a Harvard research team's study in Saudi Arabia.

They met at a private luncheon Monday in New York. Pusey told newsmen he and the king discussed "ancient plagues" and other findings of the Harvard research team.

Hotel Astor on Time Square Closes

By JERRY BUCK

NEW YORK (AP) — The Hotel Astor, which has stood along gaudy Times Square like a maiden aunt for nearly 62 years, calls it quits today.

This morning her last 150 guests will check out, the 450 employees will leave their jobs, and the wrecking crew will take over. The Astor, a Broadway landmark, is coming down to make way for a 40-story office building.

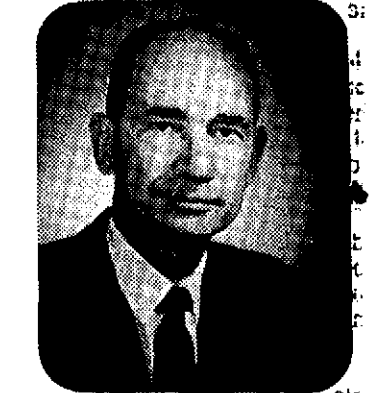

"It's sad. Any passing is sad," said Erwin O. Schel, the hotel's general manager.

Henry Pottberg, the assistant bell captain, looked across the red-carpeted lobby and said, "The Astor's just out of this world. It's been like a second home to me. I've spent half of my life here."

Calendar of Events

Monday, July 4.
Article 2 WSCS of the First Methodist Church will meet on Monday, July 4 at 9:30 a.m. in home of Mrs. O. A. Graves. S. R. T. White is chairman.

Marriage Announcement
Vivian Alford, Hope, and John Alford, Mobil, Ala. announce the marriage of their daughter, Gail Alford to Paul Singleton son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Singleton of Springhill, Louisiana. The wedding took place June 18.

Mrs. Singleton is a graduate of Laneburg High School and is attending Southern State College, Magnolia, where she is a Senior majoring in Psychology and Sociology. Mr. Singleton attended Southern State College and for the past 3 years has been employed at the International Paper Company of Springhill.

The couple will make their home in Springhill, Louisiana.

Adult Dance At Hope Country Club
The Hope Country Club looked most attractive for the Adult dance held there Saturday night June 25. Large Shasta daisies and Magnolia leaves were used as decoration.

About 100 attended the dance, including members and out-of-town guests. Assorted snacks, including shrimp, and old drinks were served. Host couples were Mr. and Mrs. Tony Monts, Jerry Owen, Sam Andrews, and Rufus Herndon.

Tuesday Bridge Club
Mrs. Bill Wray and Mrs. Emma Thompson were guests of Tuesday Bridge Club which met with Mrs. Lyle Brown on June 28. Greenery of various kinds graced the home, and the high-scorer of the afternoon was Mrs. R. L. Broach.

Assorted tidbits were served with coffee or cold drinks.

Coming and Going
Mrs. Bert Lowe of Gurdon has paid a short visit to the Jack Lowe family.

Mrs. K. E. Ambrose has returned home from six weeks in Oklahoma, where she visited Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Ambrose, Jr. and family in Tulsa and Mrs. Florence Ambrose in Ada.

Mrs. M. B. Hatch came home Wednesday from a three-week European tour.

The Rev. Johnnie Beasley, pastor of the First Christian Church is at the U of A for a Church and Community Seminar for pastors and laymen.

Mrs. J. R. Boyer, Ashdown has been visiting her sister, Mrs.

F. R. Moses, and Miss Mary Roy Moses.

Mrs. Margaret Scarborough, Palestine, Tex., is here to see Mrs. Johnnie Beasley, Sammy and Louann.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. H. T. Flesher are their children T-Sgt. and Mrs. H. H. Flesher and children from a tour in Japan; T-Sgt. and Mrs. Bill Flesher and children from Nashville, Ga.; T-Sgt. and Mrs. Bobby Flesher & children from Phoenix, Ariz. Mrs. George Bush and son from Cortland, N.Y.; and Slivia Winfrey and daughter from Greenville, Texas.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — While television news shows suggest that the war in Viet Nam is a grim affair, war will be depicted as gallant adventure or as a barrel of laughs in the entertainment shows scheduled for next season.

Counting "Gomer Pyle" — and we probably should not since boot camp comedy has little relationship to the rest of military life — there will be seven series featuring soldiering, mostly the World War II variety. Generally speaking, from a distance of 20 years, our old enemy is being portrayed as pretty nice.

ABC's "Combat" and "12 O'Clock High" are straight action shows, one about combat infantrymen in France and the other about Britain-based U.S. airmen. CBS' new "Jericho" will fight the underground war. "Hogan's Heroes" and "F Troop" are just for laughs.

But even the stars-to-be of the forthcoming "Rat Patrol" are not exactly sure — yet — whether they are in a comedy or an adventure series. They suspect a bit of both.

The four young men who comprise four-fifths of the ABC show's leading players, zipped through New York last weekend en route to Spain for three months in which to turn out 17 shows. They will be using the sandy locations and sets used in the film, "Lawrence of Arabia," since apparently some sections of Spain look more like African desert than Africa. "Rat Patrol" is built around Rommel's ill-fated African campaign.

Engagement Announced

Miss Brenda Kay Delony

The engagement and approaching marriage of Brenda Kay Delony, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William A. Delony, to Donald H. Gammill, son of Mrs. Sam Gammill and the late Mr. Gammill, is made known by her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Collier Sr. of Hope.

Miss Delony is a 1962 Hope

High School Graduate and is presently employed by the South western Bell Telephone Company. Mr. Gammill, a 1958 graduate of Hope High, is employed by M & M Leasing Company of Hope.

The wedding will be an event of August 27 at 8 p.m. in the Walnut Street Church of Christ in Hope.

Raps Doctors for Treatment of Addicts

By ALTON BLAKESLEE

AP Science Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A doctor who became a drug addict charges the medical profession "doesn't know how to treat me, and doesn't really want to know."

"The profession that has for generations battled to keep the government from intervening between the doctor and his patient is content to let a federal tax agency tell it what to prescribe for me," he writes anonymously in the July 1 issue of Medical World News.

The Bureau of Internal Revenue is responsible for administering and enforcing federal narcotics laws.

Eight years ago, at age 35, he writes, he was a successful pediatrician in a wealthy New Jersey suburb, with a wife and five children.

Then he began taking a codeine-and-aspirin combination to ease a gnawing tension that built up during the afternoons, and soon progressed to hypodermics of morphine.

Knowing he was heading for trouble, he consulted a psychiatrist who advised hospitalization. Eight months in a private mental hospital used up his savings, "and I made wonderful progress in all respect but one. I didn't find out why I took drugs."

His drug consumption increased, and he next went to "the mecca of all American addicts, the U.S. Public Health Service Hospital in Lexington, Ky. But any kind of therapy there is bound to founder on the twin rocks of coercion and incarceration."

He failed to make progress with three admissions to Lexington, and later was arrested on a charge of fraudulent use of narcotics. His medical license was suspended.

For a while he made a living as a writer, but he lost his job. His wife told him to stay away until he had overcome his problem, and six months ago he was living and working at a church-run mission, the physician writes.

Now he feels he is making progress by participating in a research program studying the effectiveness of a drug, methadone, in helping addicts overcome their dependence on drugs; he has "a good job and more confidence than I've had in 10 years" and life "is now too precious to miss a minute of."

"But why did eight years of my career have to be wasted? With the doctor shortage, which is almost a national emergency, why is so little known about a disease that is almost an occupational hazard with doctors?"

The color green symbolizes hope of eternal life in liturgical use.

Youth Asked For It

This column is for young people, their problems and pleasures, their troubles and fun. As with the rest of Helen Help US!, it welcomes laughs but won't dodge a serious question with a brush-off.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help US! this newspaper.

Pondering Nose Bob

Dear Helen: It's gruesome! My nose is so big you can't even see my face. My friends say it isn't but I have a mirror. I hate to say anything to my folks because Noses run in the family but I just can't live with mine another summer! I'm 16. Am I too young for a nose job? With this anteater look, if I had a dollar for every boy that would date me I'd be in the poverty program. — Nosey

Dear Nosey: You can be sure your nose isn't nearly as big as others as it is to you. In life, hardly ever win or lose by a nose, and most definitely your popularity with boys doesn't depend on a bob job. Don't expect an miraculous change in personality or looks, just because of a bit less cartilage. In fact, most people don't notice the difference unless they are told.

But if you're still determined then consult your parents — who had better have from $500 to $1500 handy. At 16, you're old enough if you're wealthy enough and an expert agrees the work is sthetically necessary. Be sure to choose a plastic surgeon recommended by your own family doctor, and allow at least three weeks for recuperation. —H.

Dear Helen: I have got a bad case of hairy arms. If I were a boy I wouldn't mind, but I'm a girl and it's terribly embarrassing. I have to wear long sleeves, even in the summer. My mother thinks I'm silly, but I thought maybe you could tell me a safe way to lighten all that useless fuzz. — Hairy Problem.

Dear H.P.: Make a thick paste of 20-volume peroxide and cornstarch, or talcum powder, and cover the hair on your arms, dampening with more peroxide until the bleach is effective.

This is good for lightening hairy legs too, in case any of my teen readers have parents who think my past remarks on shaving are razor blade commercials. —H.

Dear Helen: I'm having trouble with my fingernails. Am trying to let them grow but they keep breaking off. What's wrong and what can I do? — Troubled

Dear Troubled: Diet (or rather the usual culprit: teenage dieting) is quite often responsible for nail problems. Drink more milk, eat lots of proteins, and try some gelatin on the side.

A well-known cosmetologist tells me nails break often because they are filed too close at the sides. Polish and polish remover are very drying, she adds as are many modern detergents. A white-iodine-based nail cream rubbed into the base of the nails where growth takes place, helps toughen them. Liquid white iodine is also good.

If you type a lot, scrub a lot with strong cleansers or detergents, or work in a beauty parlor where you give many cold waves and hair straightenings, your nails will suffer.

And if none of these things help, perhaps my readers have other suggestions. —H.

Dear Helen: Am I goofy or something? I long for a boy who won't come running every time I snap my fingers. I want someone I can't order around, a fella who may even ture me over his knee and spank me if I need it. — Where?

Dear Where: When you find him, you may decide Errol Flynn is better on the late late show. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen Help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bottel in care of Hope Star.

TURNABOUT—Photogenic bears in Yellowstone National Park have so long been in front of the camera that there should be nothing surprising about one wanting a change of pace. This black bear cub at Mammoth Hot Springs seems to be checking his lens setting before giving a camera-pointing tourist tit for tat. Actually, there should be a third actor in the scene—the movie cameraman who beat a hasty retreat when the cub unexpectedly took a do-it-yourself approach to photography.

Rightfielders Dominate the All Star

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Five right fielders will start the 1966 All-Star baseball game July 12 at St. Louis.

Frank Robinson of Baltimore, Tony Oliva of Minnesota, Al Kaline of Detroit, Hank Aaron of Atlanta and Roberto Clemente of Pittsburgh all have been voted into the opening line-up.

The new rules established by Commissioner William D. Eckert provide for a general vote on outfielders instead of a ballot for specific positions as in the past.

Consequently, the entire American League outfield will be made up of men who normally play right although both Oliva and Kaline have played center for stretches.

Willie Mays will be the National League center fielder for the 13th time. He will be blanked by Aaron and Clemente, who normally are right fielders although Aaron does shift to left in some parks.

Robinson, a star with Cincinnati in the National League before he was traded to Baltimore last winter, because the third man to make the grade in both

Drysdale in Victory Over the Redlegs

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer
Don Drysdale, half a $1-million holdout in the spring, finally has become a five-and-ten pitcher.

The tall Los Angeles right-hander won his first game in a month and pulled his season's record to 5-10 Wednesday night when the Dodgers beat Cincinnati 9-5.

But his bat played a bigger role than his arm.

Drysdale smacked a pair of singles in an eight-run Dodger third-inning outburst that should have made his first victory since May 30 a breeze.

It was more like a hurricane for the veteran pitcher.

Drysdale lasted until the seventh inning, giving up three runs on nine hits before finally being relieved by Phil Regan. Tony Perez' two-run homer in the eighth closed the gap but Regan hung on to save it.

The victory ended a six-game losing streak for Drysdale, who finished with 23 victories last year. And if you think he's been in a pitching slump his two hits lifted his batting average to .234. He hit .300 in 1965.

Both the third-place Dodgers and second-place Pittsburgh picked up ground on National League-leading San Francisco. The Pirates pushed across a run in the last of the ninth for a 6-5 victory over Houston while Juan Marichal lost his third game as St. Louis nipped the Giants 2-1.

In other games, Philadelphia dropped New York 5-2 and Chicago rallied for seven runs in the ninth inning and a 9-5 victory over Atlanta.

In the American League, New York edged Boston 6-5, Baltimore downed Kansas City 5-2, Cleveland defeated Minnesota 4-1, Chicago shut out Washington 5-0 and California whipped Detroit 6-2.

Robert Clemente's ninth-inning single delivered Matty Alou with the winning run as the Pirates downed the Astros. Alou had opened the ninth with an infield hit and moved up on Gene Alley's sacrifice.

Chuck Harrison and Jim Wynn hammered two-run homers for the Astros with Wynn's two-out shot in the ninth tying the game.

Ex-Giant Orlando Cepeda walloped a tremendous home run into the upper deck in Busch Stadium — the first ball hit in that sector of St. Louis' new park — as the Cardinals beat Marichal and San Francisco.

It was only the third setback in 16 decisions for the Dominican right-hander. Willie McCovey accounted for the only Giant run with a towering homer in the seventh.

Richie Allen drove in two runs with a double and a single as Philadelphia defeated the Mets. Cleon Jones and Jerry Grote whacked bases-empty homers for New York.

Billy Williams ripped a two-run homer in Cubs' big ninth inning, which wiped out a 4-2 Atlanta lead. Marty Keough and Glenn Beckert each drove in two runs in the rally.

Fights Last Night Mantle Raps Pair, Hopes to Hit 500

Associated Press Sports Writer
Mickey Mantle's goal is 500 homers. There's some doubt, however, whether he can reach it this season.

There's also some doubt whether he wants to.

Mantle smashed two homers for the second consecutive night Wednesday, leading the New York Yankees to 6-5 victory over Boston and leading himself into a discussion of his future now that he has brought his home run total to 464.

"I'm counting the home runs," Mantle admitted, eyeing the 500-homer plateau. "But I may stop one short. It will give me an excuse to come back next year."

Mantle, whose hitting feats history, actually considered retirement after the 1965 season, and giving it at least one more undergoing a shoulder operation. But the Yankees talked him into rank second only to his medical try before finishing a major league career that now spans 18 years.

Mantle, however, has been bogged down around the .250 mark most of the season, and he rarely has hit with sustained power. But he's feeling strong now, and proving it with seven hits, including the four homers, in his last 12 trips to the plate.

Mantle connected Wednesday for a three-run shot in the first inning and a solo blast in the third, giving him homers in three straight at-bats. But, in the fourth inning, with a chance to tie the record for most consecutive homers, Mantle settled for a single.

The homers brought him total for the season to 11 and left him 15 shy of his target or is it 16?

While Mantle increased his homer total, Baltimore increased its American League lead to 3 1/2 games by downing Kansas City 5-2. Second-place Detroit slipped back by bowing to California 6-2, Cleveland whipped Minnesota 4-1 and the Chicago White Sox blanked Washington 5-0.

Can't See Ralston As Winner

By GEORGE MILLER
Associated Press Sports Writer
WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Dennis Ralston, America's No. 1 tennis player from Bakersfield, Calif., won't win the coveted Wimbledon championship Friday in the opinion of Cliff Drysdale and Owen Davidson.

Drysdale and Davidson think Manuel Santana of Spain will beat Ralston in Friday's championship final.

Drysdale, the South African star who was defeated by Ralston in Wednesday's semifinals 6-3, 8-6, 3-6, 7-5, 6-3, declared: "Santana is the finest player in the world today."

"Ralston comes in so strongly at the net, it needs a player with a lob to get the better of him. I don't have the lob among my strokes, but Santana has it. That's why I think Santana will win."

Davidson, an unseeded player from Australia who went down before Santana in the semis, 6-2, 4-6, 9-7, 3-6, 7-5, said: "I think Santana will win this title. He has no weakness for an opponent to concentrate on."

Ralston, too, has plenty of respect for Santana's game, but asserted, "I think I can win."

Ralston fought back in fine style against Drysdale, after twice being a set in arrears.

The South African blamed the heavy schedule of the Wimbledon tournament, which he said had left him tired before the semifinal began.

Santana is the first European to reach the final since 1955, when Kurt Nielsen of Denmark lost to America's Tony Trabert.

Meanwhile, Billie Jean Moffit King carried the last remaining hopes of a singles title for the United-States in the women's competition.

Follow These Simple Tips To Avoid Fishing Accidents

BY WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

It is again time to take your fishing tackle out of moth balls. Whether you drop a line off a bridge, wade through racing rapids or track down your prey in some kind of boat, you have chosen a sport that gets you out of doors and provides time for quiet reflection.

The most common fishing accident is snagging a finger or some other part of your body on a barbed hook. This may occur while you are trying to bait a hook when you are sitting in a rocking boat or when reaching for a lure in a boat full of tackle. Many such accidents can be prevented by keeping a small cork over all hooks that are not in use. Casting is potentially dangerous to your fellow fishermen. Some of the hazard is removed from this practice by using an overhead motion rather than a sidearm motion. If you prefer the latter you should move to a safe distance from your companions.

In removing the hook from a fish you should hold the fish firmly under the gills so that its head can't flop or wiggle. If the hook has caught you instead of a fish don't try to pull it out. The hook must be pushed forward until it emerges from your flesh then snip it off with a wire cutter. Your doctor is equipped to do this and give you antibiotics and a tetanus toxoid booster to prevent infection.

If you are fishing from a boat be sure to have life belts available. Don't overload the boat and be sure to heed radio warnings of an approaching storm. When your boat is in motion keep a watchful eye out for other boats, swimmers and submerged rocks.

Sunburn is another hazard you must make every effort to prevent. Carry insect repellent and a first-aid kit with you.

Q—What causes hemorrhoids? What makes them itch? Can they become cancerous?

A—Hemorrhoids or piles are a form of varicose vein located at the outlet of the bowel. The cause may be prolonged straining at stool, a congenital weakness of the tissues surrounding the veins of the rectum or pregnancy. Irritation of any tissue at a level below that of true pain may cause itching. Piles may itch when there is a slight break in the overlying mucous membrane or when the stool is highly acid. Piles do not increase the danger of cancer of the rectum but the two conditions may coexist.

Mamie, Ike Look Back

By FRANCES LEWINE
GETTYSBURG, Pa. (AP) — Ike and Mamie Eisenhower, looking back over 50 years of married life, have decided "these last years" are the happiest.

For former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, it's because he has more time for such things as exploring supermarkets or painting "anything that intrigues me."

For his wife, the former Mamie Geneva Doud, it's because she has a home of her own for the first time since she married a young Army lieutenant in the parlor of her mother's red brick house in Denver July 1, 1916.

In a rare joint interview, the famous couple reviewed their lives together — the moments of great tragedy, like "the death of our first son," the exciting moments "when we saw our first grandchild," and the great moment "when I was inaugurated as president."

Eisenhower said he didn't want anyone to think he was "a downtrodden slave" in the White House. He considered the eight years — the longest they ever lived in one place — "a very thrilling, very exciting, very humbling experience."

He called the White House "a sort of hotel," roomy and nice but a place the New York tax department didn't even consider his official residence. While there, he said, he had to pay New York taxes on his presidential salary until he finally took up residence in Gettysburg in 1955.

At the interview they had gaiety about them — Ike at 75 and Mamie at 69. They looked younger than their years. As grandparents, they expressed optimism about the youth of America.

Eisenhower said he believed the good, finely educated, understanding youngsters would "take over from the cockeyed kooks," whose exhibitionist antics "make us look terrible."

Sitting in leather arm chairs in his office on the campus of Gettysburg College, the Eisenhowers took note of the milestone in their lives with recollections ranging from Bible reading and Victorian morals to sobering thoughts of their recent illnesses.

"Gen. Eisenhower," as he now is referred to, did most of the talking as he presided jovially in a gray business suit. But Mamie often chimed in. She wore her famous bangs with a bright orange headband matching her orange summer dress.

Travelers Win Over the Spurs

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Arkansas left 10 men on base but still rolled to a 13-6 Texas League baseball victory over Dallas-Fort Worth here Wednesday night.

The Travelers collected 16 hits off six Spurs' pitchers. Arkansas broke a 1-1 tie with five runs in the fourth inning and the Spurs played catchup the rest of the way, but couldn't make it.

Felix Roque picked up the victory, his fourth in seven decisions, in relief of starter Fred Wall.

Soviet Reject Goes to Greece

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Soviet author Valery Tarsis, who was deported from Russia last February for criticism of the Soviet government, says he has applied for Greek citizenship.

Tarsis, who is of Greek origin, flew to Athens Monday from Switzerland for a private visit.

New League Organized in Pro Football

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — A new pro football league, with a pooled $24 million in its kicker to outbid the National and American leagues for player talent this fall, has been announced by Frank Leahy, the former Notre Dame coach.

It is a unique corporation program consisting of 12 franchises in metropolitan centers with Anaheim, Calif., and its new stadium, the only member so far identified.

Bruce Erlin of Santa Ana, Calif., an attorney who was named executive vice-president of the corporation known as the United States Football League, said that the $24 million in cash and credits includes the price of franchises along with the packaged amount to be spent "to get the players we want."

Leahy, who will serve as chairman of the board with broad powers, was emphatic at a news conference Wednesday that "we are willing and adequately prepared to spend money for outstanding players — and can go to half a million dollars to get any one of them."

The recently announced merger of the National Football League and American Football League leading to one league by 1970 touched off the USFL.

Leahy and Wertheim indicated that if the two established leagues think they now have few problems in what was a spiraling big-money war of signings, they might have another thought coming.

"We will have a common player draft based on a central scouting system as soon as the regular intercollegiate football season is completed in November and will be ready to start business in the fall of 1967," said Leahy.

"I know our draft will be a couple of months before that of the NFL and AFL, who have announced theirs for January. But I surmise that they now will change their plans."

"I think the AFL and NFL people are too sport-minded to try to circumvent our emergence as a new league. They have no reason to do so and I don't see how they could, anyway."

The first six franchises will be announced July 20, the next three Aug. 15 and the last three Sept. 1. "Four or five applicants have either an NFL or AFL team in their cities," said Leahy. "Frankly, we are staggering the announcement of our sites to spread out the publicity value." Among cities in the run-mor hopper are Chicago, Washington, Philadelphia, Memphis, New Orleans, Seattle, Phoenix, Cincinnati.

There was no comment from any NFL or AFL official in New York.

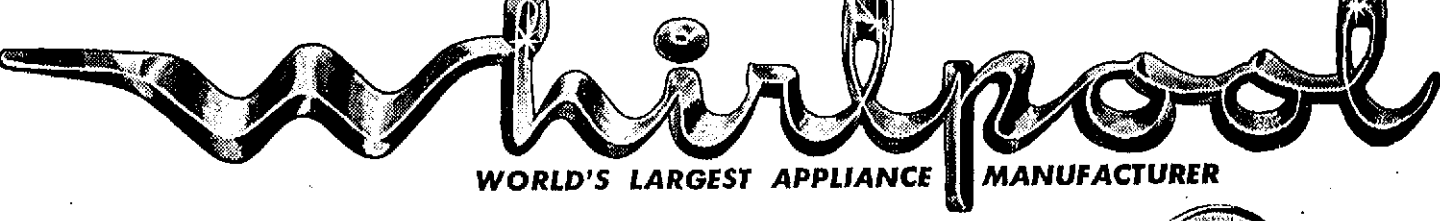

Weehawken, N.J., was the site where Aaron Burr mortally wounded Alexander Hamilton in a duel on July 11, 1804.

Won't Mind
Losing Record

By DAVE O'HARA
 Associated Press Sports Writer
 BOSTON (AP) — Ted Williams, one of the most feared sluggers in baseball history, is proud of his hitting feats but doesn't mind being passed in the all-time home run derby by a player of Willie Mays' calibre. "I'm very happy for him," Williams said in extending Mays congratulations for displacing him as the game's No. 3 home run hitter. "Willie's a great guy and has been good for baseball."

Williams, scheduled for induction into the Hall of Fame next month at Cooperstown, N.Y., compiled an enviable record with the Boston Red Sox from 1939 until this retirement in 1960. Despite hitches as a Marine Corps flyer in World War II and the Korean War, he batted .344 and hit 521 homers in 19 seasons with the Red Sox.

Mays passed Williams by cracking his 522nd career homer in San Francisco's 2-1 victory at St. Louis Monday night. The Giants' spectacular centerfielder now trails only Babe Ruth (714) and Jimmy Foxx (534) in career homers.

"I knew he was going to catch me and I'm happy for him," Williams said on a visit to Fenway Park Tuesday night where he saw the Red Sox beat the New York Yankees. "Willie is a great ball player. He deserves all the praise he gets."

Williams, who will be 48 Aug. 30, is enjoying life while devoting time to various enterprises. He is a vice president of the Red Sox, promotes sporting goods for a department store chain (Sears Roebuck) and operates a baseball camp for boys in Lakeville, Mass.

"Right now I'm looking forward to the Hall of Fame ceremonies. It's certainly an honor to be going in with Casey Stengel. I'm going in with a tremendous man. No one has contributed more to baseball than Casey. I'm very proud. I've always said that there isn't a man in the game that I respect more," Williams said.

Holy Men in Challenging Controversy

NEW DELHI, India (AP) — The bearded and sometimes naked holy men who wander through India's humid jungles and dusty plains have splashed into a challenging controversy. These yogis and sadhus, as the holy men are called, have come under considerable pressure to prove they have the mysterious powers often attributed to them.

The biggest splash in the whole affair came in Bombay where one of India's better known yogis, L. S. Rao, advertised he would walk on water before a select crowd that had paid to see the miracle. Rao sank like a rock in his specially made tank and surfaced spluttering, water dripping from his tangled beard and uncut locks.

Prime Minister Indira Gandhi was asked at a news conference the next day if she believed in water-walking sadhus. She shook her head no. Exponents of yoga — the art of the yogis — were outraged.

"This has thrown a challenge on the yogis," one expert said. "For the good name of yoga we hope some yogi will believe our prime minister."

Newspapers challenged Rao to make good his boast or deliver a public apology. Even among his own colleagues, Rao has come in for criticism.

"The fault lay not with the system but with Rao," said M. S. Golwalkar, a Hindu politician. "Rao was in a hurry. He attempted it before he was ready for it. The net result was a bad name for hatha yoga."

Roughly translated, hatha yoga means man who has united the "moon breath and sun breath." It requires renunciation of worldly affairs, long penance and strict control of body and mind through breath-regulation exercises.

Before taking his plunge, Rao exhibited other specialties of his group: A walk through a hot fire from which he emerged unscathed, a lunch of broken glass, followed by what he claimed was a chaser of nitric acid and potassium cyanide.

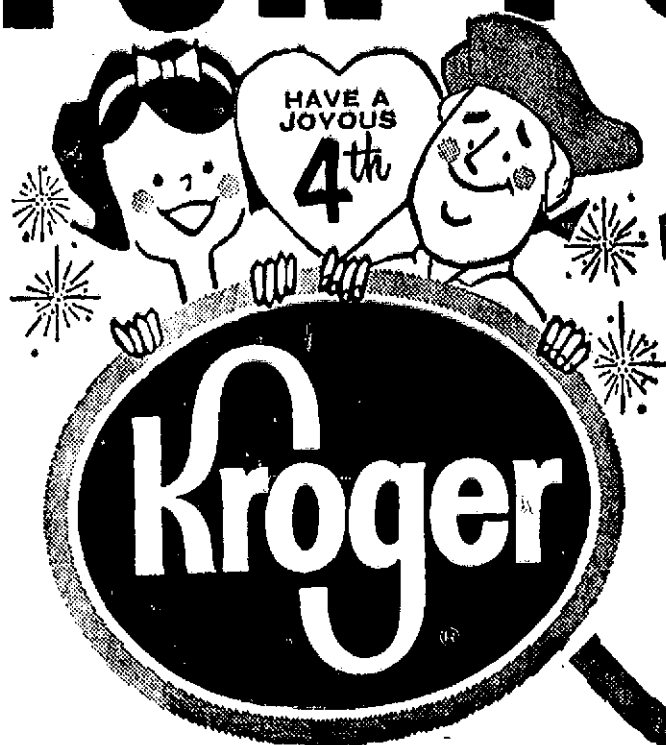

The common explanation for a yogi's ability to swallow glass is that muscle control enables him to regurgitate it. The usual answer for the potassium cyanide act is that, as any visitor to a county fair knows, the hand is quicker than the eye — and the poison never enters the yogi's mouth.

But after spending a few years in India, few people, including skeptical foreigners, laugh too loudly at the yogis or their claims.

There are too many documented cases of yogis doing fantastic feats.

Blueberries Top Great Shortcake

BLUEBERRY SHORTCAKE is a delightful summer treat.

Summer fruits splash flavor and color over the family menu. The more often, the better for health and pleasure.

BLUEBERRY SHORTCAKE (Serves 10)

1 cup butter package (8 oz.) cream cheese
cups unsifted all-purpose flour cups (1 pint) heavy cream cup confectioners' sugar teaspoon vanilla extract

4 cups (1 qt.) fresh cultivated blueberries,
rinsed and drained
1 cup granulated sugar
Juice of 1 orange

Mix butter with cream cheese. Add flour and mix with hands until well-blended.
Chill for 1 hour. Roll out dough 1/4-inch thick on a lightly floured board and cut into 20 ovals, 3 1/2 x 2 inches.
Put ovals on an ungreased cookie sheet and prick them with a fork. Bake in a preheated hot oven (400 degrees) for 8 to 10 minutes or until lightly browned. Cool on a rack. Whip cream with sugar and vanilla until stiff. Mix blueberries with sugar and orange juice. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly, for 5 minutes. Cool. Put 10 ovals on a platter and top with some of the blueberry filling.

Top with second ovals. Top with whipped cream and the remaining blueberry filling.
Serve at once.

Beef Loaf Is a Western Treat

by Gaynor Maddox
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Way out West where meat loaf is meat loaf, it's all beef. No quarter-pounds of this and half-pounds of that. Just plain beef. With a can of stewed tomatoes and a few chopped fresh herbs, this is one of the world's most honest meat loaves.

If you're hankering for something different, don't tamper with the basic recipe. Top the meat loaf with wagon wheels. Or sea shells, bow ties or plain old macaroni. The secret is to toss the cooked paste with butter, cream and grated Parmesan cheese before spooning it over the meat. Then shove it under the broiler until it turns a wonderful golden brown and smells like "Come and get it."

WAGON WHEEL BEEF LOAF

(Serves 6)

- 1 egg
- 1 (8-ounce) can stewed tomatoes
- 1 1/2 cups soft bread crumbs
- 1 1/2 teaspoons salt
- 2 tablespoons chopped green onion
- 2 tablespoons chopped parsley
- 1/4 teaspoon mixed Italian herbs
- 1 1/2 pounds ground lean beef

Combine lightly beaten egg with tomatoes, crumbs, salt, onion, parsley and herbs. Let stand until bread is very soft. Add beef, mixing with fork until well blended. Shape into round loaf on oiled pan. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) 30 minutes. Arrange wagon wheel topping over loaf. Broil about 3 inches from heat until lightly browned.

WAGON WHEEL BEEF LOAF sings of the West.

Wagon wheel topping

Combine lightly beaten egg with tomatoes, crumbs, salt, onion, parsley and herbs. Let stand until bread is very soft. Add beef, mixing with fork until well blended. Shape into round loaf on oiled pan. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees) 30 minutes. Arrange wagon wheel topping over loaf. Broil about 3 inches from heat until lightly browned.

WAGON WHEEL TOPPING: Cook 1 cup wagon wheel macaroni in boiling, salted water until barely tender. Drain. Add 2 tablespoons butter and 1/4-cup half and half. Cook over low heat until half and half is absorbed. Remove from heat and stir in 1/2-cup grated Parmesan cheese.

Paluzzi: A Swat At Italian Films

BY DICK KLEINER
Hollywood Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

HOLLYWOOD (NEA) — Don't insult Italy in the presence of Luciana Paluzzi, or she'll hand you your head, pizza by pizza. But it's perfectly O.K. for her to say a few unkind words about Italian films and she does.

"You know," she says, crossing her legs. After the audience recovers my equilibrium, she continues. "Italian films, with a very few exceptions, are shown only in Italy. And maybe a little in France. But there are very few which are international and appeal to audiences all over the world, like American films."

She uncrossed her legs. You can have the leaning tower of wherever, I'll take the lithe limbs of Luciana.

"And another thing. It is very hard for a young actress to get a start in Italian pictures. Antonioni uses only his girl friend, Monica Vitti. DeSica uses only Loren. Fellini likes character actresses, not pretty girls. There's another one who doesn't like girls at all; he prefers boys."

"So, for me, there's not much place in Italian films."

But all you have to do is agree with her, or amplify her criticism a bit, and Luciana is ready to spring.

"I am very patriotic," she says, "and I'm the only one I allow to say anything bad about Italy. I love Italy, but I prefer working in Hollywood."

She just finished a sexy part (what else?) in "The Venetian Affair." And there are several others in the works for the near future. Her family—her mother and son—are back home across the foam in Rome, and that's where her heart is.

"I call home every other day," she says. "Last month, my telephone bill was $1,800—and that doesn't count the collect calls and the times my mother called me."

Here's a little fable, told to me as fact by a well-known male star. Maybe you will find it as shocking as I did, particularly the star's reaction.

This particular man is divorced. One day, he got a call from his 12-year-old son, who was still living with his mother.

"Dad," he said, "you've got to help me. Mother is banging at my bedroom door and I've got a girl stashed in the closet. What should I do?"

The star related this tale with relish and a strong sense of parental pride—a kind of the-kid's-starting-young-horray air. And you wonder why some kids go wrong.

The major trouble with the movie business today, according to veteran director Mervyn Leroy, is the showing of movies on television.

"I was at a party in Pasadena a few weeks ago," Leroy said, "and most of the guests were business people. One woman came over to me and asked me what I was directing now. I told her and she said, 'Oh, that's nice. I'll see it soon on television.'"

"I think most of the public feels that way—they're sure the movies will be shown on television soon after they're made these days."

"I think movie exhibitors should run a line in their ads—something like 'Will Not Be Seen on TV for Two Years'—to set the public right. I've talked to a lot of people about this, but they look at me as though I've got two heads."

That's because they're used to double features.

Polly's Pointers

Dungarees Need Softening

by Polly Cramer, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

DEAR POLLY—My husband and his co-workers would appreciate knowing how to soften new dungarees.—MRS. J. F.

DEAR POLLY—When taking out the hem in a readymade dress I have found that if you pick the threads until you find the right end it will all unravel easily. Wrap this thread around a piece of cardboard or empty spool as you unravel it, and use it to put the hem back in. You are assured of having the proper color thread without having to look for it. There is usually more than needed so it can be saved for future hem changing or repairs.—MARY

GIRLS—If you slightly dampen this thread as you rewind it there will be fewer annoying wrinkles to make the thread knot as you sew with it.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY—To clean your potato peeler, crumple some aluminum foil into a ball large enough to protect your fingers. Dip this into your water and cleanser and work it back and forth. This will clean and shine the peeler and also seems to sharpen it a bit.—M. E. P.

DEAR POLLY—To avoid getting splinters in your fingers when using steel wool, cut a hollow rubber ball in half and then put the steel wool pads in one hollow half. Bear down as hard as you please—there'll be no splinters and the steel wool seems to last longer, too.—ALICE

DEAR POLLY—In our neighborhood we have a "share the ironing day" which is simply getting together with a neighbor, your ironing board and iron, clothes and hangers. Two girls are at one house and each week we switch around and find this is a fine way to get the tedious job of ironing done painlessly plus a time to chat and share a cup of coffee with a special friend.

If you are worried about tearing fragile organdy curtains when they are taken off the rods for laundering, simply put one of those tapered pencil erasers on the end of the rod. The curtain will come off easily with no snags or pulls in the material and then the eraser can be moved to the next rod.—CAROLE

Anyone submitting a Polly's Problem, a solution to a problem or a favorite homemaking idea will receive a dollar if Polly uses the item in Polly's Pointers.

PLAY AS YOU GO

By Mary Whitman

Lemonade — 5¢ — is a sign of summer.

Even inflation seldom changes the hand-scrawled signs and orange crate booths that children set up on a green day. The household provides lemons, sugar and ice. The beverage sells for pennies, nickels, an occasional dime, or whatever the bearer has in his pocket, with barter common.

A new book called Make A Sign — Stencil is going to be a big help to pint-size ade salesmen, store-keepers of sneaker age, and young gardeners who want to sell some of the crop. Adults may find themselves making use of the stencils too. The thrifty playbook, available at variety stores, has punch-out letters and numbers and designs.

"Youngsters like to print official looking signs for their rooms and clubhouses, do posters for shows, make signs for scouting or school exhibits and other projects," reminds Betty Ren Wright of Whitman Publishing Company of Racine, Wis., world's largest producers of children's activity items. The stencils are also handy for labeling hobby boxes or bookie bags or lunchboxes or decorating gift paper.

Adults in the household may find the book just as useful for labeling cartons of out-of-season clothes, organizing toy boxes in the playroom with easy-to-read identification, or making signs for closets or dresser drawers to stake out each child's storage areas. The book can also go to the basement to mark toolboxes or containers.

Colorful crayons, washable water paint, enamel or indelible marker can be used with the stencils, depending on how durable you want the sign. The stencils can be kept in a small box to be used over and over.

Stencils can be useful, too, in monogramming garden tools, wheelbarrows, bikes and wagons. Signs of the season can be breezy and easy to see when you borrow the youngsters' book.

Leukemia is an overgrowth of white cells in the blood.

Ship Out in Nautical Denim

Kasuals designs. Gussie and Becky feature soft scrubbed denim stripes in faded blue matched to a white shell blouse with rose pattern (right). Three-button jacket is lined in the same pattern as the blouse. Self-tie belt for the Bermuda shorts uses the floral print accent for eye appeal.

Summer Harmony

A MANY-OCCASION outfit—a cool yet elegant fashion for warm-weather wearing. This two-piece dress can be worn for casual or afternoon affairs. Make it with contrast to emphasize the unusual line of the overblouse and complement the soft fullness of the slim skirt. Should you prefer, sew it in a monotone for the effect of an all-in-one slim statement. For a third costume, add the attractive one-button jacket. Consult our exclusive Co-ordinator that is part of every Young Original for suggestions as to choice of fabrics, colors and accessories.

B-80 is in sizes 10, 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Bust 31 to 40. Size 12, bust 32, blouse, 1 1/2 yards of 35-inch skirt, 1 1/2 yards; jacket 2 1/2 yards.

Send $1 for this pattern to: YOUNG ORIGINALS (name of newspaper), P.O. Box 438A, Midtown Station, New York, N.Y. 10018. Print your full name, address, with zip code, pattern number and size. Add 25c for first-class handling.

by Helen Hennessy
Women's Editor
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK—(N.E.A.)—Pleasure boating is fast becoming America's most popular recreation. And all boat enthusiasts, from Sunday outboard skippers to the captains of impressive yachts, are interested in enjoying their hobby in style.

The man to whom everyone says, "Aye, aye, sir," has his white bell bottoms and C.P.O. shirts in denim. But fashion designers have not overlooked his feminine first mate in the nautical scheme. And some of the smartest boating fashions for women are in denim.

There are bright-colored denim yachting and sailing suits with matching jackets in both regular and soft brushed denim. Cranberry red, faded blue and white and blue-striped hickory denims will be the most popular this sailing season.

For comfort on the water, cool cotton denim is the answer. If you're allergic to the sun, choose one of the pants and jacket ensembles. If you love the sun, worship in short shorts and midriff tops for an over-all tan. You can always slip on a matching denim jacket to ward off those occasional cool breezes on the water.

Denim is the darling of the sailing set. And why not? It has always been the seagoing attire of the U. S. Navy and it takes to rough wear like a duck to water. In addition, cotton denim is cool and it's easy to clean.

While blue jeans will always be welcome aboard, don't miss the new denim fashions. The pants sets, for instance, are just the thing to wear when you tie up at a fancy marina for dinner.

Handle Tomatoes Carefully

by Gaynor Maddox, Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—Please tell me how to select tomatoes in the market. I don't seem to have much luck.

A—Handle tomatoes carefully because they bruise easily. Fully ripe tomatoes, being extremely delicate, are often picked before reaching maturity and then allowed to ripen enroute to market. If they aren't fully ripe when you buy them, place them in a dry place, away from light, never on the windowsill because the sun will ripen them unevenly. Refrigerate fully ripe tomatoes to prevent overripening.

When selecting at the market, look for those tomatoes that are well-formed and plump, of uniform red color, free from marks and not overripe or soft. Avoid tomatoes that are puffy, a sign of poor flavor. Scarred, rough tomatoes, or those with slight deformities, or with well-healed growth cracks, may be objectionable only in appearance. Otherwise they may be all right. Such slight irregularities will not detract when you serve tomatoes sliced, cut into pieces or salads, or used in soups, stews and casseroles.

Q—My husband insists I can "age" steak in my refrigerator. My butcher says that is not so. Who is right?

A—Your butcher is right. Aging requires controlled conditions of humidity, temperature and air movement. It is not possible to duplicate these conditions in the home.

Shirtwaist Dresses Flattering to Most Figures

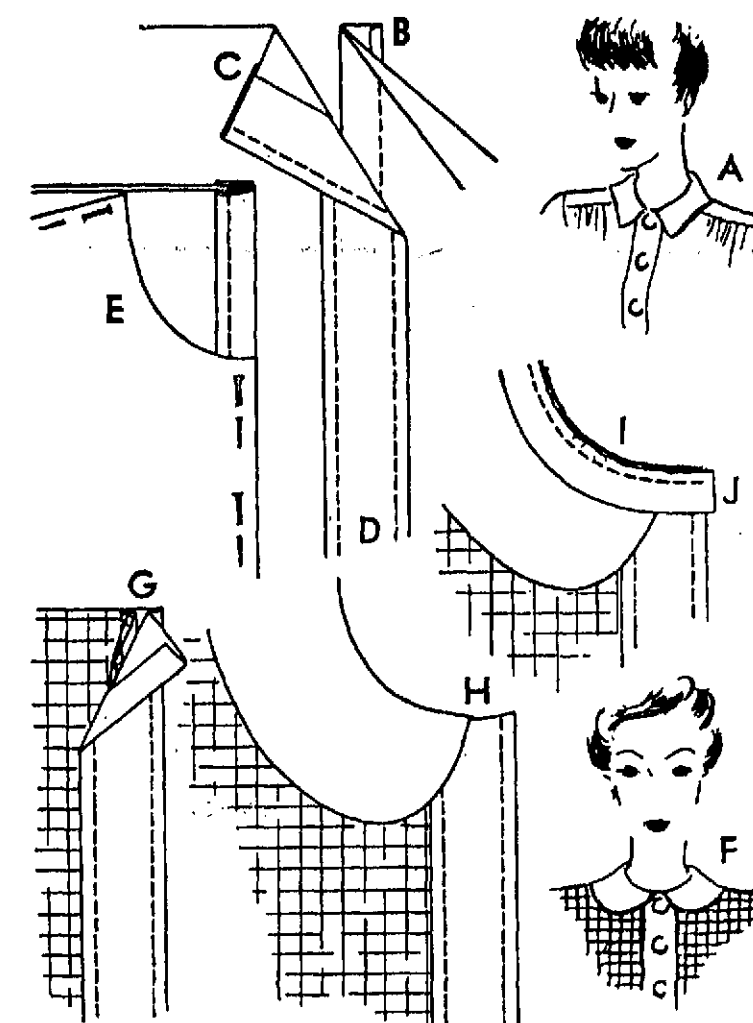

by Mary Brooks Picken
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Many Hollywood stars (Doris Day for one) love shirtwaist dresses and have them made in very expensive fabrics in a variety of flattering colors.

The shirtwaist style is flattering to many types and is especially lovely in silk brocade. It is as good to wear in summer as it is under a mink in winter.

To apply the pleat and hem as shown, cut off a length of fabric the length of your shoulder to waist measurement, plus 2 inches. Make your hem and pleat. Then cut out the front of your dress.

Collar and front pleat may be of the material of the dress or of a harmonizing color or white.

You can use a pointed collar, as in A, made of the dress material, or of a contrast as in F.

B shows the plain hem made in the left side. C shows the edge of the right-front pleat caught into a tuck. Stitching on both sides of the pleat the same width, D, and, of course, the stitching precisely done, using not less than 11 or 12 stitches to the inch.

Fold the center front pleat right side up, in half as shown in E. Have B pinned with its center directly under the center of the top pleat. Pin accurately the full length of the pleat. Now place the front pattern on and cut the neck, shoulder armhole and underarm.

Stitch the shoulder seams. Check to be sure the neckline is comfortable. Then apply the collar and prepare to make buttonholes.

Buttonholes are best made lengthwise and directly in the center of the pleat. Space them so that if you are using a wash fabric the point of the iron can get in between the buttons. Use tiny snaps if you are not an expert buttonhole maker. Or make eyelets and borrow your husband's shirt studs, which he probably hasn't worn since you married him.

Key To Fashion— Cut-ups And Cut-outs

Cut-ups and cut-outs — that's the key to warm weather fashions for 1966.

Sportswear is cutting up with zippy hip-bugging sleek pants, bared midriffs and skinny rib knit T-shirts. In shirts and swim suits cut-outs are the by-word.

These new bared looks are meant for the lean, young figure.

If you prefer this, cut a pattern by pinning a double fold of tissue 12x24 inches to the center back of your shirtwaist. Bring it around to the center front. After the pleat is in place, shape the paper to the size collar you want. Cut the neck edge to fit the neck of the dress.

Use this pattern to cut, on a lengthwise fold two thicknesses of collar. Place right sides of these together. Stitch in a generous 1/4-inch seam. Press the seam open. Press over a bottle for the curves. Clip seam at one-inch intervals, all the way around, taking care not to cut your stitching.

Turn the collar right side out and press it again. Baste the neck edges together beginning in the center of the pleat (H). Use a true bias facing 1 1/4-inch wide (I). Ease the facing to the neck edge, so that when it is turned, raw edge turned in and whipped to place, it will be perfectly flat. End J extends 3/8 inches. This also should be turned in and secured with whipping stitches.

There's no way to hide that spare tire, either. An uncovered flabby midriff is about as appealing to the masculine eye as a protruding rib cage. Covering up will do no good, for the tickling, poor-boy sweaters and T-shirts cling to a shapely middle — or a sagging silhouette. If you have even a little extra fat, steer clear of those cut-out swimsuits and dresses. Who needs a see-through window to jiggling flesh? The best way to meet the greater exposure of fashion, however, is with your own pared-down not pear-shaped figure. Cut down on the calories and try a little exercise and you'll soon be able to greet the fitting-room mirror without a groan. Try the coffee-flavored Metrecal for breakfast, and lunch on the Metrecal cookies whenever you can. You'll be surprised what just a few weeks of this type of calorie-cutting will do for your outlook on life — and yourself. In no time you'll be feeling as young as the new clothes look.

Only three planets have no known satellites — Mercury, Pluto and Venus.
